POLISH UNIVERSITY ABROAD (PUNO)

CALL FOR PAPERS

V INTERNATIONAL INTERDISCIPLINARY ACADEMIC CONFERENCE

Artificial Intelligence in Sciences and Arts.

Chances and Dangers

We invite experienced researchers and PhD students to apply to participate in PUNO's V International Interdisciplinary Academic Conference. This event aims to unite young researchers worldwide to explore and discuss AI's educational opportunities and challenges. Participants can present a paper or a poster showcasing their research and findings related to the conference theme. We encourage you to submit your abstract for consideration.

We welcome submissions from various academic disciplines, including but not limited to the following research areas:

- The impact of emerging technologies on education.
- AI-driven creativity: Exploring the potential of AI in artistic expression and innovation.
- AI-mediated communication and collaboration tools.
- Collaborative learning and social interactions in AI-enabled environments.
- AI in music composition and performance: Blurring the line between human and machine-made.
- The role of consent and transparency in AI-based learning.
- Evaluating the effectiveness of AI-based tools and interventions.
- Governing AI in science and art
- Data privacy, security, and ethical considerations in AI-driven education.
- Ethical use of AI-generated insights and predictions.
- and other topics related to science and art.
